

HERE is an advertisement of Ivory Soap where they recommend it for toilet purposes. I thought it was a laundry soap. It is, but it is so much better than the ordinary toilet soap that I use it for the bath altogether. Its floating properties are a great advantange, and after soaping yourself, all you have to do is to take a dip and the lather will disappear, leaving your skin as clean and fresh as can be.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright 1886, by Procter & Gamble.

low a Newspaper Man Upset a Carful of it is wrong to play jokes on the clergy, and only very sinful people ever do it. There is an ex-new spaper man, well known on the Row, who wears the snuggest face, the min-isterial air and the most clerical spectacles of any man in the business. During a recent convention, which drew several hundred clergymen to Washington, Mack (that isn't his name) got into a Fourteenth street car full of ministers, stumbled half way up the aisle, and caught the eye of a fellow news-

Why, Brother Thompson, how do you dof he exclaimed, grasping his hand and shaking it effusively. Mack sat across the aisle and started a running conversation which could be heard all over the car. "Let me see, Brother Thompson; I haven't een you since the triennial conclave at Chautauqua in 1575. How is your Buffalo charge getting along! How is Mrs. Thompson! Did on get your salary raised! Not That is too bad. I did. I worked my congregation nice-ly. I had a friend in Cleveland who is on the staff of a secular newspaper, and he was unscrupulous enough to work up a boom for me there until I received an offer of $5,000. Of course my congregation wasn't going to be outbid-ha, ha-and they saw that $5,000 and went them $1,000 better. That was in May, one year ago."

The whole car was attention by this time, and Mack was the focus of thirty pairs of cu-

"Along in June I sat for my portrait, I get 40 per cent, gross on those, you know. What do you get? Nothing? Oh, dear, Brother Thompson, you really neglect your opportunities. Let me see. I received from the church fair proceeds alone last year-[the amount was lost in a whisper.] But these ortraits were very had. They made me ook thin and careworn. I sent four dozen of them around to the dear ladies, and it would have done your heart good to see how they worked and raised $500 to send their pastor off to Europe. I hear you are thinkng of taking a new charge! Is it so! Want to have a chauce to work over your old serons. Been eight years in one place! Well. don't blame you. I can't very well. You see I have made a good many investments in my city, and it would necessitate too many sacrifices to break the old ties, Still there are other ways. I succeeded in negotiating an exchange of 150 sermons for an admirable series by Dr. Scott, of San Francisco. The good man was much pleased at the exchange. There, there, oh, dear, dear. I have just called to mind that a family which has been in my church for ten years has just moved to San Francisco and is going to join Dr. Scott's church. They may remember those sermons. Oh, dear; it may make trouble for Mack chuckled and poked "Brother Thompson" in the ribs with his umbrella. It was a rainy day.

"Where is your umbrella, Brother Thompson? Is that it? That's not the sort of umbrella y m ought to have. Look at mine. The finest of silk and an elegant silver handle, I don't know whether you ever noticed, but always have nice umbrellas. You see, nine is a fashionable church and there are always a good many strangers at divine service. I have an arrangement with the sexton to pick out on rainy Sundays the best strangers leave umbrellas in the vestibule, so I never have any trouble about umbrellas. Ah, here is my street. Good-by, Brother Thompson. Come and see me when you can.

A babel of whispers ran around the car and ineignant glares followed the pseudo lergyman. One venerable party came down to "Brother Thompson" and, notebook is hand, asked the name of "that clergyman. Brother Thompson struck his forebend with cross-examination left the car at the ne
